Burnett Immigration Bill Put Through the House.

ILLITERACY TEST ALSO STANDS

Motion to Strike This Feature From the Measure Defeated by an Overwhelming Vote - Senate Almost Certain to Pass the Bill, but Wilson's Action Thereon Is a Matter of Speculation.

Washington, Feb. 5.-By a vote of 240 to 140 the house passed the Burnett immigration bill, regarded as the proposed in many years. The measure now goes to the senate, and doubtless will be passed by that body. Whether it will be approved by President Wilson is a matter of lively speculation among both the opponents and proponents of the legislation. The bill was bitterly opposed in the house.

The fight against the bill was led by Representative Goldfogle of New York. When it was called up for final passage Mr. Goldfogle made a motion to recommit the bill, with instructions to the committee on immigration to strike from the measure certain features, among them the illiteracy test. The motion to recommit was defeated by 241 to 126.

An important provision in the bill is that proposing the exclusion of militant suffragets or other persons identifie with organizations that seek to effect government reforms by violence. Strict regulations are imposed wih a view to excluding persons supposed to have criminal tendencies.

Another important change made in the existing law is the penalizing of to exclude stowaways and deserting alien seamen.

The debate on the immigration bill was a lively one. Mr. Manahan of fairness in drafting this bill and also attacked alleged unfair statements of Mr. Burnett and charged him with cowardice in not daring to answer objections and upon his methods in

Are We Only One-tenth Awake?

Is it true that a good many of us are only one-tenth awake Hours, days, and years slide soft and our slumbering faculties lie dormant and unresponsive to thousands of calls?

That is the accusation of a well known scientific writer. who holds that we are nine-tenths asleep.

Few of us are willing to admit that we are in such a comatose state, and yet most of us, if perfectly honest, must admit that rarely do we meet the person fully roused to his ntmost capacity and alert in every talent.

Isn't the claim true that many of us are "engines, surging with tremendous forces which are never set into action? Isn't it true that few of us use our faculties to the ut-

Isn't it true that we possess potentialities that centuries would not exhause, and yet, many of us are content to merely exist-placidly ignoring our splendid birthright?

Mentally and physically we are satisfied with an inferior existence, and often these potentialities of ours do not even interest us enough to induce passing thought.

Isn't it true that most failures originate in laziness and misdirection of energy?

A wide-awake investigation of our faculties, and the put ting into intelligent operation those that we stir to activity, would mean success instead of failure.

Herbert Kaufman says that "every day is a grab bag, with at least one tremendous prize hid amidst the hours." Yet many a man goes after the small prize of the raffling contest with far greater energy than he goes after this prize, hidden between the hours.

It's time for us to wake up! Explore our talents! For we have talents, even if they are temporarily buried beneath sloth or an inferior existence.

If we hunt for success with the same energy with which we dig out excuses for a career that spells failure, we'll find that success stands waiting at our elbow.

Chaplain of the Sockless

There's a preacher in New York who makes a business of putting his congregation to sleep.

However, members of his audience do not slumber in high backed pews, for his is a church whose "altar is a fire-box, its chancel rail a curbstone and its pulpit a hydrant."

The preacher is Chaplain Frederick Ratzler and for twenty-one years he has drawn the "down-and-outs" to Madison Square Garden to hear sermons which are such as most impress them. A large part of the audience is made up of those who are certain to sleep in the park unless the unexpected happens-and the unexpected happened when Chaplain Rotzler, one night, at the end of his sermon, gathered out of his audience fifteen vestless and stockingless ones, marched them across to a cheap lodging house, and put to use some money given to him by one of the crowd, in sending them all to bed.

On every Sunday night since the hat is passed at the end of his sermon and the money taken in provides lodging for the

Chaplain Rotzler always has an audience and the bedless horde waits anxiously to be chosen. The first in line receives the first bed check and many a cold night, the back row, after standing until midnight, finds the checks exhausted and returns to its dreary march. Consequently there is always a rush for the front "seats".

Nor is this "chaplain of the sockless" satisfied with finding lodging for his charges; from lodging house to lodging house he trudges to be sure his "misfortunates" are in bed and to have a word of prayer at each bedside.

Going in and out of prisons, work houses, hospitals; taking magazines, fruit or food, collected wherever it can be found, speaking words of kindness and doing helpful deeds, it is not to be wondered at that the chaplain is the idol of the "down

The issue in the case of Mr. Glass was as to the authority of Governorelect O'Neil of Alabama to make an appointment pending an election by the people of that state of a senator. Governor O'Neil took the ground that the constitutional amendment for the direct election of senators could not affect the term of any senator chosen before the constitutional amendment was ratified. Cal. Gault, Residing East of Jeffersonville Is Seriously Injured When Team Attached to Heavily Laden Farm Wagon Runs Off-Pulls Himself Upon Wagon After Injuries are Sustained, and Drives to His Home.

As the result of a runaway team attached to a heavily loaded wagon, laws, 316; drunk and disorderly, Cal. D. Gault, a well known farmer residing near Jeffersonville, was very seriously injured late Wednesday evening, and is now confined to his home with a fractured leg and other painful injuries which will prevent him from doing active work again for a couple of months.

The accident occurred on the State road two miles east of Jeffersonville. and near the residence of Mr. Gault. The horses became frightened at some object along the road and started to run. The wagon, which was laden with tile, was going down grade at the time, and Mr. Gault was walking along beside the wagon holding the reins.

He pluckily held on to the reins and was dragged for considerable distance before bringing the horses to a stop. The heavy wheels of the wagon ran over his legs soon after the horses started to run, and the left leg was broken above the knee, while the other was bruised in a shocking

When he secured control of the horses, Mr. Gault, although nearly faiting with the horrible pain, dragged himself upon the wagon and drove on to his home, where it was necessary to lift him from the wagon.

Physicians were summoned and his wounds were dressed and the fracture reduced. Mr. Gault thinks himself luck to escape with his life, as near passing over his body instead of his legs, and if such had been the case death would have been almost instantaneous, it is believed.

The death knell will sound for the Chief of Police O'Brien is commanded to see that all houses are closed, and that they remain closed. The City Manager instructs the chief to notify the inmates that, if any of them desire to reform and want homes, to come and see him, and he will take care of them.

The "Book of Shame", a register of resort inmates, which has been a treasured volume among the records at the police headquarters for years, will have "finis" written in it now, and will be placed in the safety vault of the city.

City Manager Ashburner takes the responsibility for the closing of the resorts, saying there is no law in Ohio giving them a right to exist.

George Bartruff, of Sabina, formerly of this county, had a narrow escape from the Xenia workhouse, a few days ago, when he was found guilty of not supporting his wife and eight minor children, and also of being guilty of immoral conduct.

He was given six months in the workhouse but the sentence was suspended by Probate Judge Mills, of Wilmington, A woman from Bloomington was mentioned in the case.

An agreement satisfactory to the court was made between BartruT and Mrs. Bartruff's father, who resides at Milledgeville, Bartruff agreeing to do better. Meanwhile the workhouse sentence hangs over him to insure the fulfillment of the agree-

Sale of Whitewear Is The Event of the Month

You'll find among the pretty things some that are worthy of special mention.

For instance: From a line of lingerie brought from Paris to the PURITAN factory the designers selected a charming Princess Slip valued at thirty. seven dollars.

These designers produced a similar garment following closely the same lines and style, but by using less expensive laces, though equally beautiful in design, and cloth costing no more than women are accustomed to paying, the result was a stylish, distinctive, well made Princess Slip that could be offered to women at only three dollars and fifty cents.

AMIFRENCH LINGERIE, SPECIAL FOR THIS SALE

An imported gown equal to this in appearance and quality would cost several times as much. The material used is a good grade of nainsook. Neck and sleeves are handsomely finished with French scallops, Ribbon drawn through eyelets entirely encircles the neck. A beautiful flower and spray design, set off with a chain of eyelet work, is embroidered on the front of the gown. The sleeves are also worked with a spray and eyelet design. There is a dainty exclusiveness about this garment that will appeal strongly to women of discrimination.

Anti-Screen Coal Bill Pui Through Ohio Legislature.

IMPORTANT AMENDMENT MADE

al Measure Passes the Senate-Governor Urges Transfer of County Fund For Mothers - Flood Bill Passed With Emergency Clause. Doings of the General Assembly.

Columbus, O. Peb. 5. - The Ohio house of representatives, on the statement of Assemblyman Boggs of Belmont that it might avert a strike. took out of the Green anti-screen coal bill its provision that the new run-ofshould not take effect until Oct. 1. pass the emergency clause. 1914, and by 163 to 8 passed the bill. for which the miners have struggled for 30 years. It was sent to the senate for concurrence in the amendment by which the law will take effect in 90 days.

Operators and miners alike accepted the amendment. The operators desire to bring in court at the earliest date possible a test of the validity of this law.

In a special message Governor Cox urged the legislature to expedite putting into effect the mothers' pension law by providing for the transfer of money in any county fund to the juvenile court. He also asked authorization of like transfers to the blind relief fund.

School Bill Passed.

When the house concurs in a few minor amendments which the senate placed in the Lowry school bill the biggest of the administration school program measures, providing for both county and district supervision for rural and village schools, will be ready for Governor Cox to attach his signature. Rallying from the disorder into which their ranks had fallen Tuesday, administration supporters came up strong and put the school supervision bill across by a vote of 23 to 8. They voted down two amendments proposed by Senator Moore of Jefferson which would have given the rural folk an opportunity to exercise home rule in matters of supervision. They were also able to secure reconsideration and the defeat of the Hudson amendment, which provided uniform textbooks with the county as a

Reconsideration and defeat of the Hudson amendment was obtained only after Governor Cox had prom-1sed to throw his support back of Mr. Hudson's bill which seeks to make the textbooks in the grades uniform throughout the state. This pact was fulfilled later when the Hudson bill was reported favorably for passage. It provides that the governor shall appoint a commission of six members, three of whom shall be engaged actively in teaching or supervision. The other three may be laymen. The superintendent of public instruction shall be an ex-officio member and secretary of the commission. The Three Made Laws.

The house made laws of three senate school bills, those of Senator Hudson standardizing rural schools; of Senator Hopple for issuance of age and schooling certificates, permitting employment to girls over 16 years old who have passed a seventh grade test, and of Senator Weygandt, increasing the fire hazard of school buildings by modifying the fireproof construction law and permitting the erection of a two-story addition of the same material as the main building, even if it be frame.

The Smith 1 per cent tax law was Administration's Principal Education given a swat when the house followed the example of the senate and passed the Friebolin social center bill. The bill, which lacks only the signature of the governor to make it a law, empowers any school board to levy twotenths mill tax for a social center fund, and provides that this tax shall be "in addition to all other taxes ailowed by law."

Going the house one better, the senate not only passed the Miami valley flood protection bill, but also put over the emergency clause by a two-thirds vote, which would make the measure effective as soon as it is signed by uct and paying wages to the miners the governor. The house refused to

Four house measures were passed by the senate and now are ready to go to the governor. They are by Brown of Ashland, providing that the dean of the agricultural college of the Ohio State University, who is a member of the state agricultural commission, shall be paid by the university; by Shanley of Portage, prohibiting solid shooting in mines; by Chapman of Montgomery, providing for keeping emergency supplies at mines, and by Dickson of Washington, clearing the state's title to lands in Marietta which are to be used for an armory

Washington, Feb. 5 .- The state department received confirmation of the coup d'etat in Lima, Peru, in which President Billinghurst of that country was deposed and his secretary of war killed. Minister McMillan sent a terse report.

The coup was wholly unexpected in Washington. Though it was well known the political situation in Peru was greatly disturbed, it was not thought that matters would take such a violent course. Secretary of State Bryan said he had tion in the matter and indicated that there would be none for some time. It is believed the administration will recognize the revolutionary government if there is a semblance of a constitutional procedure in its organization

President Billinghurst had been in a conflict with the Peruvian congress almost constantly since his election to the presidency by that body a little less than a year ago. The popular election was declared without result. and after a long delay Billinghurst was finally elected by the congress. It was reported at the time that intimidation was resorted to to secure his election.

WILL ATTACK

Cleveland, O. Rockefeller faces the possibility of going to jail if the county tax commission is successful in forcing to an issue the payment of $12,000,000 in taxes demanded of the oll king. The tax commissioners have the backing of Governor Cox and the state tax ecomission in their attempt to force John D. to pay taxes on $900,000,000 of personal property.

The Rockefeller forces have girded their loins for a hot battle in the courts. The Warnes law will be at tacked as being unconstitutional.

Vincent Millard, for six years surro gate of Westchester county, was struck and instantly killed here by a passenger train. The gates were down, but Mr. Millard pushed them up and slid under. He was so intent on watching his train coming south that he did not see the other approaching. Judge Millard was the son omes S. Millard. He graduated from Yale from the class of 1888.

Baltimore, Md., February 5. -Robert Gunn Bremner, member of Congress from the Seventh New Jersey Dis trict, and editor of the Passaic Daily Herald, died today of cancer, at a local sanitarium, where he had been undergoing radium treatment since last December He had been suffering from the disease for four years. He was 39 years old and married.

Mr. Bremner came to a sanitarium here after physicians in this country and Europe had vainly tried to cure him. It was found that the disease had made such inroads upon him that little could be done to help him, and that the fight against death would be made with all the odds against him.

Mr. Bremner was optomistic. however, and tubes containing $100,000 worth of radium were applied to the growth.

time the patient seemed to improve, and members of his family frequently expressed the belief that he would recover. They clung to this hope until a few days ago. In his last days of suffering Mr. Bremner still fought on and insisted that he would get well. He declared that he wanted to go back to Congress to fight for a bill to have a government owned radium institution, so that this mineral could be at the disposal of the rich and the poor alike.

Mr. Bremner was a warm personal friend of President Wilson, who was kept constantly advised of his condition and who frequently sent him messages of sympathy and encouragement accompanied with flowers.

Mr. Bremner's election to Congress was accomplished while he lay in bed. He did not make a speech. On the night before the election President Wilson then Governor of New Jersey, visited Passaic and made a speech for him.

Washington, Feb. 5.-By a vote of proposed in many years. The measure now goes to the senate, and doubtless will be passed by that body. Whether it will be approved by President Wilson is a matter of lively speculation among both the opponents and proponents of the legislation. The bill was bitterly opposed in the house,

The fight against the bill was led by Representative Goldfogle of New York. When it was called up for final passage Mr. Goldfogle made a motion to recommit the bill, with instructions to the committee on immigration to strike from the measure certain features, among them the illiteracy test. The motion to recommit was defeated by 241 to 126.

An important provision in the bill is that proposing the exclusion of militant suffragets or other persons identified with organizations that seek to effect government reforms by violence. Strict regulations are imposed wih a view to excluding persons supposed to have criminal tendencies.

Are We Only One-tenth Awake?

Is it true that a good many of us are only one-tenth awake and our slumbering faculties lie dormant and unresponsive to thousands of calls?

That is the accusation of a well known scientific writer. who holds that we are nine-tenths asleep.

Few of us are willing to admit that we are in such a comatose state, and yet most of us, if perfectly honest, must admit that rarely do we meet the person fully roused to his utmost capacity and alert in every talent.

Isn't the claim true that many of us are "engines, surging with tremendous forces which are never set into action? Isn't it true that few of us use our faculties to the ut-

Isn't it true that we possess potentialities that centuries would not exhause, and yet, many of us are content to merely exist-placidly ignoring our splendid birthright?

Mentally and physically we are satisfied with an inferior existence, and often these potentialities of ours do not even interest us enough to induce passing thought.

Isn't it true that most failures originate in laziness and misdirection of energy?

A wide-awake investigation of our faculties, and the putting into intelligent operation those that we stir to activity, would mean success instead of failure.

Herbert Kaufman says that "every day is a grab bag, with at least one tremendous prize hid amidst the hours." Yet many a man goes after the small prize of the raffling contest with far greater energy than he goes after this prize, hidden between the hours.

It's time for us to wake up! Explore our talents! For we have talents, even if they are temporarily buried beneath sloth or an inferior existence.

If we hunt for success with the same energy with which we dig out excuses for a career that spells failure, we'll find that success stands waiting at our elbow.

Chaplain of the Sockless

There's a preacher in New York who makes a business of putting his congregation to sleep.

However, members of his audience do not slumber in high backed pews, for his is a church whose "altar is a fire-box, its chancel rail a curbstone and its pulpit a hydrant."

The preacher is Chaplain Frederick Ratzler and for twenty-one years he has drawn the "down-and-outs" to Madison Square Garden to hear sermons which are such as most impress them. A large part of the audience is made up of those who are certain to sleep in the park unless the unexpected happens-and the unexpected happened when Chaplain Rotzler, one night, at the end of his sermon, gathered out of his audience fifteen vestless and stockingless ones, marched them across to a cheap lodging house, and put to use some money given to him by one of the crowd, in sending them all to bed.

On every Sunday night since the hat is passed at the end of his sermon and the money taken in provides lodging for the

Chaplain Rotzler always has an audience and the bedless horde waits anxiously to be chosen. The first in line receives the first bed check and many a cold night, the back row, after standing until midnight, finds the checks exhausted and returns to its dreary march. Consequently there is always a rush for the front "seats".

Nor is this "chaplain of the sockless" satisfied with finding lodging for his charges; from lodging house to lodging house he trudges to be sure his "misfortunates" are in bed and to have a word of prayer at each bedside.

Going in and out of prisons, work houses, hospitals; taking magazines, fruit or food, collected wherever it can be found, speaking words of kindness and doing helpful deeds, it is not to be wondered at that the chaplain is the idol of the "down and outs."

Present Army of United States Would Be Annihilated In War

By Major General LEONARD WOOD of the United States Army

O SEND OUR TROOPS INTO WAR AS THEY ARE TODAY WOULD BE ABSOLUTE SLAUGHTER. WE HAVE NEITHER SUFFICIENT FIELD ARTILLERY NOR AMMUNITION. WE ARE ABSOLUTELY UNPREPARED. THE ARMY HAS BEEN TRYING TO ACCUMULATE ONE THOUSAND TWO HUNDRED AND NINETY-TWO FIELD GUNS OF VARIOUS CALIBERS, BUT TODAY WE HAVE LESS THAN HALF THAT NUMBER. IT WOULD BE SUICIDE TO ATTEMPT TO REPEL AN INVADING ARMY OF FIVE HUNDRED THOUSAND MEN WITH LESS THAN TWELVE HUNDRED GUNS. NO NATION WOULD IN-VADE THE UNITED STATES UNLESS IT HAD AN ARMY OF THIS SIZE. WE NEED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED ROUNDS OF AMMUNITION FOR EACH GUN. WE HAVE BUT HALF THAT AMOUNT ON HAND.

The fire of modern field artillery is so deadly that troops cannot advance within its range until first having silenced it. Field artillery cannot be easily obtained. In nine days during the Russian-Japanese war the Russians expended MORE THAN TWO HUNDRED AND FIF

TY THOUSAND ROUNDS OF AMMUNITION AT MUKDEN. The entire yearly capacity of the United States is but that amount. Working three shifts a day, this nation can PRODUCE BUT TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY FIELD GUNS A YEAR. We need right as a minimum supply three times that number.

THE QUIET LIFE.

Happy the man whose wish and care A few paternal acres bound, Content to breatne his native air In his own ground,

Whose herds with milk, whose fields with bread,

Whose flocks supply him with attire; Whose trees in summer yield him

In winter, fire.

Blest, who can unconcern'dly find Hours, days, and years slide soft

In health of body, peace of mind, Quiet by day.

Sound sleep by night; study and ease Together mixed; sweet recreation, And innocence, which does most please

With meditation.

Tell where I lie.

Thus let me live, unseen, unknown Thus unlamented let me die; Steal from the world, and not a stone

Washington, Feb. 5 .- Frank Glass, publisher of the Birmingham News, who was appointed by Governor O'Neil of Alabama as senator ad interim to succeed the late Joseph F. Johnston, came within one vote of securing the seat. After two days of stirring debate the resolution offered by Senator Robinson (Ark.), declaring Mr. Glass entitled to the seat, was lost by a vote of 31 to 32.

The issue in the case of Mr. Glass was as to the authority of Governorelect O'Neil of Alabama to make an appointment pending an election by the people of that state of a senator Governor O'Neil took the ground that the constitutional amendment for the direct election of senators could not affect the term of any senator chosen before the constitutional amendment was ratified. Cal. Gault, Residing East of Jeffersonville Is Seriously Injured When Team Attached to Heavily Laden Farm Wagon Runs Off-Pulls Himself Upon Wagon After Injuries are Sustained, and Drives to His Home.

As the result of a runaway team Arrested for violation of R. R. attached to a heavily loaded wagon, laws, 316; drunk and disorderly, Cal. D. Gault, a well known farmer residing near Jeffersonville, was very seriously injured late Wednesday evening, and is now confined to his home with a fractured leg and other painful injuries which will prevent him from doing active work again for a couple of months.

The accident occurred on the State road two miles east of Jeffersonville. and near the residence of Mr. Gault. The horses became frightened at some object along the road and started to run. The wagon, which was laden with tile, was going down grade at the time, and Mr. Gault was walking along beside the wagon holding the reins.

He pluckily held on to the reins and was dragged for considerable distance before bringing the horses to a stop. The heavy wheels of the wagon ran over his legs soon after the horses started to run, and the left leg was broken above the knee, while the other was bruised in a shocking

When he secured control of the horses, Mr. Gault, although nearly faiting with the horrible pain, dragged himself upon the wagon and drove on to his home, where it was necessary to lift him from the wagon.

Physicians were summoned and his wounds were dressed and the fracture reduced. Mr. Gault thinks himself luck to escape with his life, as the wheels of the wagon came very near passing over his body instead of his legs, and if such had been the case death would have been almost instantaneous, it is believed.
